Regenerative innovation

Sustainability as a goal is not enough anymore. The world is facing new economical, social and environmental challenges that compel us to invent new ways of doing business – and maybe mostly – new ways of being.

Tomorrow's change makers will only create impact by adopting a regenerative approach to innovation through business and self.

3 weeks Program with 4 days each week of 5 hours to reach 60 hours in total

Regenerative business

5 topics: Circular, collaborative, local, bioinspired and functional economics with academic experts (PhD) and entrepreneurs

Regenerative self

Personal drives and motivations, (re)establish core life values through exercises such as mindfulness meditation or yoga

21st century skills defined by the OECD creativity & innovation, critical thinking & problem solving, communication & collaboration, leadership & responsibility

Typical weekly schedule

2 topics per week,
by creating transversality between them and add an optional activity on Friday.

Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday (optional)
Topic 1 with academic experts	Topic 1 with an entrepreneur	Topic 2 with academic experts	Topic 2 with an entrepreneur	Field experience: visit of a social company, mindfulness, meditation in nature, impro,...
Peer project development	Mini-hack on entrepreneur challenge	Skill development workshop	Mini-hack on entrepreneur challenge

A highly interactive program for students to become actors of change for themselves and the world

Inspired

Above all, we want to inspire students by changing the way they look at business and society

Faithfull

We also want them to gain the skills, confidence and direction to be prepared for tomorrow's world

Grounded

We finally hope to make them feel competent and supported in a lifelong learning journey
